Henley Refused to Play Post-Season Games.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ANDERSON, Ind., April 8 .- In the meeting of the managers of the Western Polo League here, this afternoon, what promised to be a lively scrap between Fox, of Ma-482 | rion, and Henley, of Richmond, started, but 382 was stopped just in time by the other managers. The fight began over some affidavits introduced by Fox in regard to the Marion-Richmond game at Richmond Wednesday evening. One of these affidavits was signed by Mr. Stinson, proprietor of the Marion club. When Fox introduced it Henley sprang to his feet and called Stinson a liar. Mr. Stinson said nothing, but Fox took it up, and after some high words he called Henley a "-- liar." Henley immediately clinched with him, and they had a lively wrestle for a few seconds. The others in the room started to interfere, and Jessup, Fox evidently thought Jessup came to help Henley, instead of to part them, and he tried to strike Henley, but was prevented. No blows were actually landed during the melee, and the only damage resulting was a badly mussed collar for Fox and a scratched cheek for Henley. During the rest of the meeting both men talked pretty loud, but no further fighting was indulged in. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing Fox's protests on playing of Indianapolis game Tuesday night and the The match was not closed until yesterday Marion-Richmond game. FINISH BUFFALO HERE TO-DAY

Leaguers Will Play the Hoosiers.

People who reside in the White river lowlands or along the flood-swept district of Indianapolis have long since realized that the rainfall this season has been very excessive, but not one of them expressed so much disgust as Bill Phillips, manager of the Indianapolis baseball team, did yesterday morning when he saw the condition of Washington Park after the rain the night before. He had just cause to feel The Marion bowling team last night sore at Jupiter Pluvius, as the Hoosiers clinched its hold on first place in the In- have not had an opportunity for two days' in good form they must have several days' The spasmodic showers during the day rendered the park unfit for the last game of the exhibition series with Detroit, and also placed the field in such condition that the Hoosiers could not practice. Phillips wanted another chance with the Detroit Tigers, because the American Leaguers had won the only two games that had been played with the Hoosiers, The players gathered at the park and Phillips took occasion to drill them in his ideas of team work during a prolonged session in the clubhouse. Captain Magoon also gave a brief address to the infielders and the manner in which the captain and manager talked to the players one would have thought it was a meeting of college football players learning the se crets of mass plays. The Buffalo Eastern League team is scheduled for a game this afternoon, and
